THE OBSERVATORY BY THOMAS MERCER

The newest chronometer to enter the market, The Observatory by Thomas Mercer is a one-of-a-kind sophisticated timepiece with fifteen different complications. An ode to traditional timekeeping, The Observatory features a rare year display in which all four digits are active, as well as a world time indicator and impressive 30-day hand-wound power reserve. A leader in the chronometer market, Thomas Mercer's previous models include the chic black Legacy and the limited Shackleton, created to celebrate Sir Ernest Shackleton's famous voyage from Elephant Island to South Georgia.
